AMERICAN NOTE IS MADE PUBLIC

Vigorous Protest to London on Trade Interference.

CALLS BLOCKADE ILLEGAL

Notice Is Served That the United States Cannot Submit to the Curtailment of Its Neutral Rights—Principles of International Law Must Be Observed.

Washington, Nov. 8.—The United States in its latest note to Great Britain, made public here, covering exhaustively British interference with American trade since the beginning of the European war, declares the so called blockade instituted by the allies against enemy countries March 11 is "ineffective, illegal and indefensible." Notice is served that the American government "cannot submit to the curtailment of its neutral rights," and it cannot "with complacency suffer further subordination of its rights and interests."

Ambassador Page, to whom the note was sent by special messenger for delivery to the London foreign office, was instructed by Secretary Lansing "to impress most earnestly" upon the British government that the United States "must insist that the relations between it and his majesty's government be governed, not by a policy of expediency, but by those established rules of international conduct to which Great Britain in the past has held the United States to account when the latter nation was a belligerent engaged in a struggle for national existence."

Champions Neutral Rights.

Declaring the United States "unhesitatingly assumes" the task of championing the integrity of neutral rights, the note proclaims that the American government will devote its energies to the task, exercising always an impartial attitude.

The note, nearly 15,000 words in length, was made public by agreement between the state department and the British foreign office. It carries with it a voluminous appendix, giving the text of American naval instructions issued in 1862 and a summary and table showing hundreds of vessels detained by British authorities since the beginning of the present war.

The body of the note is divided into thirty-five points, dealing with all phases of the contraband question, seizures and detentions, prior to, as well as after the so called blockade was instituted, and announces that a separate communication will be sent soon dealing particularly with the "propriety and right of the British government to include in their list of contraband of war certain articles which have been so included."

In conclusion, after an argument on the law and facts, Secretary Lansing says:

Methods Are Unjustified.

"I believe it has been conclusively shown that the methods sought to be employed by Great Britain to obtain and use evidence of enemy destination of cargoes bound for neutral ports and to impose a contraband character upon such cargoes are without justification; that the blockade, upon which such methods are partly founded, is ineffective, illegal and indefensible; that the judicial procedure offered as a means of reparation for an international injury is inherently defective for the purpose; and that in many cases jurisdiction is asserted in violation of the law of nations."

"The United States, therefore, cannot submit to the curtailment of its neutral rights by these measures which are admittedly retaliatory, and, therefore, illegal, in conception and in nature, and intended to punish the enemies of Great Britain for alleged illegalities on their part. The United States might not be in a position to object to them if its interests and the interests of all neutrals were unaffected by them, but, being affected, it cannot with complacency suffer further subordination of its rights and interests to the plea that the exceptional geographic position of the enemies of Great Britain require or justify oppressive and illegal practices."

International Law Supreme.

"The government of the United States, desires, therefore, to impress most earnestly upon his majesty's government that it must insist that the relations between it and his majesty's government be governed, not by a policy of expediency, but by those established rules of international conduct upon which Great Britain in the past has held the United States to account when the latter nation was a belligerent engaged in a struggle for national existence. It is of the highest importance to neutrals, not only of the present day but of the future, that the principles of international right be maintained unimpaired.

"This task of championing the integrity of neutral rights, which have received the sanction of the civilized world against the lawless conduct of belligerents arising out of the bitterness of the great conflict which is now wasting the countries of Europe, the United States unhesitatingly assumes, and to the accomplishment of that task it will devote its energies, exercising always that impartiality which from the outbreak of the war it has sought to exercise in its relations with the warring nations."

MEAT SEIZURE NOTE SOON

Secretary Lansing Is Awaiting Certain Information.

Washington, Nov. 8.—A note to Great Britain regarding issues involved in the seizure of American meat cargoes may be prepared within the next two weeks. The state department is not now ready to take a step in this direction, as it has not received certain information requested of attorneys for the packers and which is expected next week, when a decision will be reached.

Three sets of issues are involved. One has to do with vessels and cargoes already disposed of by the British prize court. These cases have been appealed. The second has to do with vessels and cargoes not yet passed on by the prize court. The third involves a protest against interference with the shipment of meat products for Sweden via Norway.

With these figures as its basis the national dairy council started its campaign to raise $250,000 for newspaper advertising. It is planned to put the cow products on an equal footing with those of corn, rye and barley.

The Arbiter of Greece

Former Premier Venizelos

This is the latest photograph of former Premier Venizelos, who has by his control of the parliamentary majority in Greece overthrown the pro-German government. He has in doing this beaten the king who is strongly pro-German, and who has tried to keep his nation from fulfilling its treaty obligations to Serbia. Venizelos is now stronger in Greece than the king himself.

LATEST WAR NEWS

REVOLUTION DEPEND ON MEET.

(By United Press)

Athens, Nov. 8.—War or revolution may depend upon the meeting of ex-premier Venizelos and his followers here. The conference has been called to consider the war party's attitude toward the cabinet under Premier Skouloudis. While naming the compromise cabinet was considered as a favor to the war party, it was not considered enough to bring about the entrance of Greece into the struggle between Bulgaria and the Serbians. An alarming crisis may result if Venizelos rejects the new cabinet.

The warden said there was now a plot being hatched against his character in the prison at Great Meadows.

"Why are they trying to oust me?" asked the warden. "It's because I stopped grafting in the state prison; it's because I favor a new prison at Sing Sing, to be built without graft."

Warden Osborne named William J. Cummings, former banker of New York and now inmate of Great Meadows, as the graft collector under Warden McCormick's administration.

NEW NAVAL GUNS OF BIG CALIBER

Battleships Will Be Fitted With Powerful Weapons.

ORDNANCE OFFICER REPORTS

Rear Admiral Joseph Strauss Believes Latest Type of Gun to Be the Equal of the Best in Foreign Navies—Says Naval Armament Has Been Kept Well Up to Date.

Washington, Nov. 8.—Battleships now building for the United States navy will carry 14-inch 50-caliber guns which are believed by ordnance experts to be the equal of the 15-inch weapons in foreign navies, although of lighter weight. In his annual report, made public, Rear Admiral Joseph Strauss, chief of the navy ordnance bureau, says:

"With the object of keeping pace with the increased range of modern naval warfare the bureau has increased the power of the 14-inch guns for the California, Mississippi and Idaho by increasing the length of the gun to 50-caliber and enlarging its chamber capacity. In order that these latest additions to the navy should carry the highest type of artillery the bureau took the bold step of ordering their guns without manufacturing a trial gun. The bureau's confidence in its design has been fully justified.

"In August, 1914, a type 16-inch gun of the 45-caliber length was tested. This gun fulfilled the highest expectations of its design and the bureau believes it to be as powerful a gun as is in existence today."

The report shows that the navy's armament had been kept well up to date, older type 5-inch guns having been replaced on all ships of the first line; that anti-aircraft rifles of sizes up to 4-inch rifles have been designed and that mounts for the disappearing guns for submarines have been built. "Facilities for the production of smokeless powder and other explosives in the United States have been enormously increased owing to the demands of the belligerents for these materials. It has taken many months of time and enormous expenditures of money to develop those facilities and their conservation for the benefit of the United States government in time of war is a problem which will require the most careful consideration of the department when the European war is over and the present demand from abroad has ceased."

Great strides in the development of the mine planting equipment of the fleet in the last few months are recorded in the report.

ROAR HEARD FOR BLOCKS

Third Attempt to Wreck Italian Consulate in New York.

New York, Nov. 8.—The third attempt within a year was made to wreck the offices of the Italian consul general, G. Fara Forni, with a bomb.

The missile, said to have been hurled from a nearby roof, struck the pavement a short distance away from the building, exploded with a roar that was heard for blocks, ripped apart the cobblestones, rocked the neighborhood and filled the street with a rain of broken glass, but caused slight damage otherwise and failed to injure any one.

The consul general and his staff were in their offices at the time with 150 Italian reservists, who were, presumably, seeking to return home.

NEW BUFFALO HERD IN SOUTH DAKOTA.

Pierre, S. D., Nov. 8.—A new herd of buffalo is being established in the Bad Lands, between White and Bad rivers. Several buffalo from the big Philip herd near Fort Pierre have escaped and at once made their way west. A pair of them appeared at a farm north of Philip, and, after scaring the cattle on the farm and chasing members of the family they were headed toward Philip. One of the animals was got into a corral, but it soon broke out.

Besides this particular pair, several others have been reported causing trouble for farmers in Haakon county.

HISTORY IN RELICS

There's a Wonderful Exhibit In the National Museum.

A FAMOUS COSTUME DISPLAY.

Besides Uniforms of National Heroes,
There Are Nineteen Gowns of the Wives of Our Presidents, Beginning
With One of Martha Washington.

A recent report on the United States National museum gives an account of the origin and development of the division of history which will appeal to every American. The first building expressly erected for the National museum was not opened to the public until October, 1881, and from that date until the occupation of the new building, in June, 1911, it contained the greater part of the exhibits. Since the opening of the new building, however, the natural history collections have been removed there, leaving more space in the older building for the extension of the divisions of American history and arts and industries.

The division was originally organized to illustrate the history of the United States from colonial times by exhibiting such relics and memorials of noteworthy personages and events and the domestic life of the country as could be brought together into groups of objects representing the different periods. One striking feature in this connection is the unique American period costume collection of nineteen dresses belonging to the successive hostesses of the White House from the time of Martha Washington to that of a recent administration. These costumes are so exhibited on lay figures as to bring out the full effects of the gowns, although no effort has been made to reproduce the faces of the individuals. Several other dresses and a great number of accessories of apparel, including shawls, shoes, hats and bonnets, gloves, handkerchiefs, combs, fans and jewelry, are also on display.

Among the costumes and uniforms of American men shown are a uniform and dress suit of George Washington, a court suit of General Thomas Pinckney, the court dress and other attire of James Monroe and the uniform coat of General Andrew Jackson, worn at the battle of New Orleans.

Many memorials and relics of George Washington were purchased from the Lewis heirs and deposited in the museum in 1878, which, with sundry additions, now include some 400 objects.

Historical furniture which at one time or another was the property of men of national importance—Lafayette, Jefferson, Putnam, Hamilton, Gansevoort, Cooper and others—is displayed.

Colonial relics deposited by the national society of the Colonial Dames of America fill two large cases.

The printing press used in 1723-24 by Benjamin Franklin when a printer in London is specially interesting on account of its connection with this noted statesman, as well as its historical importance as regards the development of the science of printing.

Models of five sailing vessels connected with the discovery and early history of the United States represent a viking ship, which the Norsemen used in their supposed early visits to this continent in about 1000 A. D.; the Santa Maria, flagship of Columbus; the Susan Constant, which brought the first permanent English colony to America; the Mayflower of the pilgrims and the United States frigate Constitution.

The war of 1812 and the Mexican war are represented by many swords, pistols, guns, medals, flags, uniforms and accoutrements belonging to military and naval officers, among whom are Generals Brown, Ripley, Shields, Magruder, Paul, Morgan, Browne of the United States army, and Captain Lawrence, U. S. N. One of the most valued possessions of the museum is the star spangled banner of Fort McHenry, the inspiration of Key's immortal verses. This historic flag has been backed and repaired by an elaborate process, which insures its permanent preservation.

Associated with the civil war are memorials and mementos of many well known Americans—Lincoln, Grant, Lee, Sherman, Custer, Foote and many others prominent in that great struggle. The extensive Grant collection, occupying four cases, is especially interesting.

Among other prominent officers recalled by various mementos are Hancock, Hancock, Decatur, Perry, Riddle, Porter, Farragut, Wilkes, Phillips, Newcomb, Maury, Rogers and Meigs. The historical development in science is shown by several individual exhibits illustrating the work of Henry, Morse, Field, Langley, Francis, Bache, Morton, Wharton and Baird, but most of the scientific apparatus is included in the division of mechanical technology.

A Difference.

MUSICAL CLUB SATURDAY PROGRAM

Hostesses in Charge, Mrs. D. M. Clark and Mrs. Mal D. Clark Presented Delightful Numbers

MISS ARMSTRONG'S RECITAL

Nets the "Open Library Fund" $127.95; Club Announcements Made at the Meeting

The Musical Club program last Saturday afternoon was in charge of Mesdames D. M. Clark and Mal D. Clark.

Before the program, the president, Mrs. Broady, announced that the net proceeds from Miss Elizabeth Armstrong's recital amounted to $127.95, which would be placed in a fund to be called the "Open Library Fund" and turned over to the library board as soon as it was large enough to insure keeping the library open daily for several months.

The club unanimously adopted the resolutions of the National Peace Party calling upon President Wilson to summon a conference of representatives from the neutral nations which should constitute a Court of Continuous Mediation for the purpose of submitting to the warring nations reasonable proposals as a basis for peace.

The club also voted to manage the Red Cross Seal sale again this Christmas. An announcement was made by the president that Miss Lucie Stearns had been engaged for a lecture on "The Problem of Public Leisure" on Wednesday evening, December 1st, the lecture to be given in the parlors of the Chamber of Commerce, admission 25 cents. Mrs. Broady stated that it had been decided to limit the membership of the Civic Study class to thirty and that the limit had been nearly reached.

Mrs. Cobb asked for more donations to the Rest Rooms at the new city hall, which request met with a ready response, the list of donors being as follows: D. E. Whitney, Mrs. H. Theviot, Mrs. J. L. Frederick, Mrs. W. C. Cobb, Mrs. Ed. Slipp, pictures; Mrs. Henry I. Cohen and Mrs. C. M. Patek, picture moulding and placing of same; Mrs. A. D. Polk, Boston fern, Mrs. Grandelmyer, book case; Mrs. Geo. F. Murphy, material for curtains for book case; Mrs. Jos. Nicholson, one half dozen cups and saucers and coffee pot; Mrs. O. H. Johnson, window curtains; Mesdames Cobb and Broady, sofa pillows; Mrs. Maude Smith, pillow covers; Mrs. D. M. Clark, waste paper basket; Mrs. H. Theviot, writing desk and mirror. These names will head the list of donors in an attractive book that has been placed on the library table of the Rest Room, embossed with the title "Rest Room Donors" by O. H. Johnson.

The plea for Rest Room hostesses did not meet with so ready a response only thirty ladies having signified their willingness to act in this capacity. Mrs. Cobb asked the club women to save their dimes and quarters for the formal opening of this rest rooms on the evening of November 15th when the Civic and Social Welfare committee of the club will serve light refreshments there and ask for a silver offering to pay for the couch covers and furniture contracted for by these committees.

Apropos of the Lucie Stearns lecture, an extract from a letter received from a former Brainerd teacher, Miss Nichol, was read by Mrs. Cobb, in which Miss Nichol stated that she had just attended one of Miss Stearns' lectures in Winona and had enjoyed it immensely. Miss Stearns has made one lecture tour through Minnesota which included several towns besides Winona since her appearance at the state convention in Duluth, and her second tour will include Minneapolis, St. Cloud, Brainerd, Little Falls, Walker, Crookston and Duluth. Any one who can secure so many lecture dates with a return engagement to the initial city within three months of her first lecture, needs no further advertising. Mrs. Cobb stated that in her lecture, at Duluth, Miss Stearns did not merely raise an occasional laugh but that the peals of laughter were so loud and so prolonged that they seriously interfered with the progress of the lecture. On one occasion Miss Stearns turned to the president and said "Madam President, if you don't make these people behave, I can't go on with my speech."

The club members were asked to attend more of the lectures given at the Chamber of Commerce, specially the one to be given on Nov. 16th by Mr. Weller, the play ground specialist.

All those who intended to join the Civics Class were advised to do so at the next meeting, Monday evening, November 8th, inasmuch as there is to be a good speech on the city charter by D. A. Haggard, which will be followed by light refreshments and the opening of "white elephant packages." Each member and guest is requested to bring a "white elephant" disguised in plentiful wrappings with a card of appropriate sentiments attached thereto expressing the regret that the giver feels at parting with said "white elephant." It is hoped that there will be a sufficient number of these packages so that each one present may draw something.

A joint meeting of the Civic and Social Committees is called at 7:15 this Monday evening at the home of Mrs. W. C. Cobb to prepare for the opening of the Rest Room. Members are urged to be prompt so that this meeting may conclude before the Civic Study class members arrive.

The club interests have increased to such an extent as to make numerous announcements necessary at each meeting but the president despatches them so briefly that this part of the meeting is never a bore, although it may seem so when reading a report of the same.

Mrs. Mal Clark, in her musical debut before the Brainerd Musical Club, opened the program with "The Swallows" and "Come Sing to Me." Some of the members who had never heard Mrs. Clark were at once astonished and delighted at the range and sweetness of her voice. She also sang "From the Land of the Sky Blue Water" and the "Cry of Rachael" after which she responded graciously to an encore and sang "A Little Pink Rose." It is gratifying indeed to the club members to have acquired a new member so talented as Mrs. Clark.

Miss Evelyn Erickson, who has played for the Musical Club before, gave two excellent piano numbers "Valse Leupe" and "Tarantella" which evidenced her as a musical student of much promise.

The rich, full voice of Alfred Mraz never fails to please an audience and those who heard him Saturday afternoon when he sang, "Remembrance" and "At Downing" were impressed once again with the quality of his tones.

Mrs. Walter F. Wieland has established herself in the minds of all who have heard her as an unusually intelligent and sympathetic accompanist, and she substantiated this opinion Saturday afternoon when she accompanied Mrs. Clark and Mr. Mraz.

A Profitable Patent.

M. Latour, referring to the death of M. Cherest while still young, mentions a singular patient who contributed to his income 14,000 francs per annum. This patient, a well known person in the mercantile world, had a terrible fear of dying and besought Cherest to pay him a visit while in bed every morning at 9 o'clock, his fee being 40 francs per visit. Cherest consented, and for several years paid his daily visits, always receiving his 40 franc piece. During the last years of his life this patient, a very old man, became really ill and exacted two visits a day, then three, and then four, always paying his 40 francs for each. A SMART SUIT.

This is a suit for the woman fond of walking, as the short skirt of navy broadcloth proves. The short length coat is snug fitting, and black silk band points the front and cuffs. The coat skirt's fullness is held by a demi-belt, and the neck is finished with a trimmer collar. The hat suitable for this suit is a black velvet sailor.

Faraway Uranus.

The cool behavior of Uranus toward the earth is not chagrin at going undiscovered until 1781. The poor old planet is nearly 2,000,000,000 miles away from the sun and gets only one three-hundredths as much light and heat as the earth. A year on Uranus lasts through eighty-four years on earth.

PRESAGES THE RETURN OF LORD

Rev. Johnson, Revivalist at Swedish Meetings in Opera House, Holds That Signs

PORTEND COMING OF CHRIST

Meetings will Continue Every Evening this Week, with Three Meetings Next Sunday

TONIGHT
Choir rehearsal at 7:30 o'clock.
Preaching at 8 o'clock.

The inclement weather yesterday interfered somewhat with the attendance at the revival meetings, but the three meetings scheduled for the day were held nevertheless. Besides a workers meeting was held at the Swedish Mission church at 2 o'clock, visitors attended the meetings yesterday, among others being Rev. Nygren from Staples.

The men's meeting in the afternoon was well attended, considering conditions, and the evangelist's address, though at times strong and somewhat cutting, seemed to be well received.

Last night Rev. Johnson spoke on the "Signs of the Times," or the "Coming of Christ." He held that the growth of wickedness, the lukewarmness of the professing church, the present war, certainly destined to change the map of Europe, taken all together could not be considered as common experiences, but must be world-signs, presaging the return of the Lord.

Meetings will continue every evening this week, except possibly Saturday, and also three meetings next Sunday. On Wednesday and Friday, noon meetings will be held at the N. P. shops. Thursday afternoon a women's meeting will be held at the Swedish Mission church.

The Geese Were Ducks.

Some geese had strayed on the railway in Yorkshire and were observed by a traveler, who, fearing that they might be run over, said to one of the porters on the platform:

"Who owns the geese, my man?"
"Them's Ducks'," the porter replied.
Again the question was asked, with the same reply. Somewhat annoyed, the traveler called the station master and told him the story, stating that he full well knew the difference between geese and ducks.

The station master laughingly replied: "The man is quite right. Those geese are Ducks. They belong to Mr. John Duck, the farmer."—London Tit Bits.

The Comparison.

Dropping into the Garrick club one afternoon, Charles Brookfield, the dramatist, found a well known actor, who happened to be playing David Garrick at the time, reclining in a chair right under the portrait of the immortal "Davy." Brookfield stopped in front of him and looked first at the portrait and then at the man. "By Jove, old fellow," he exclaimed at last, "you grow more and more like Garrick every day!"

"Do you really think so, Brookfield?" returned the delighted victim.

"Yes," came the crushing retort, "and less and less like him every night."—London Tatler.

DON'T SCOLD. MOTHER!

THE CROSS CHILD IS BILIOUS, FEVERISH

Look at Tongue! If Coated, Clean Little Stomach. Liver, Bowels

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, does not eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomachache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste and sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs" which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly in the bottle. Remember there are counterfeiters sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.—Advt.

ANCIENT TEMPLES

Mighty Structures of Old Dwarfed by Modern Skyscrapers.

TOWER OF BABEL A MIDGET.

It Would Not Reach Two-thirds of the Way Up to the Top of the Eiffel Tower, That Sways 984 Feet in the Air. Big Buildings and the Pyramids.

It has long been the popular impression that the modern effort to pierce the clouds with skyscrapers is but a feeble imitation of the work of those ancient sons of Noah whose memory is perpetuated in the Bible. Reading in the eleventh chapter of Genesis, where it tells of the people attempting to erect the Tower of Babel, "whose top may reach unto heaven," it strikes one that they must have gone farther toward realizing their ambition than we of today may ever hope to do.

But as a matter of fact when the Lord halted building operations by confounding the workers' language and scattering them broadcast over the earth the summit of the tower was but one stade, or 600 feet 9 inches, from the level of the plain.

The Ziggurat, or temple tower of Babylon, is described by Herodotus as having eight stages, each somewhat narrower than the one directly beneath it. The top was reached by a gradually rising spiral ascent, and on the top most tier was a shrine wherein the god Marduk was supposed to dwell. Diodorus says this shrine contained three colossal golden images—one of Bel, one of Belis and the third of Rhea or Ishtar—together with two golden lions, two enormous silver serpents and a golden table forty feet long and fifteen feet wide.

The tower, as the Bible sets forth, was built of brick, with slime for mortar. This slime, it is believed, was natural asphaltum obtained from nearby springs. Ages after the building operations had been interrupted by the Maker's wrath Nebuchadnezzar undertook, with indifferent success, to restore the ruins to their former state.

The modern ruins of Babel were supposed to be represented by the great pile of Birs Nimrod, which stood in Borsippa, eight miles from the ancient city of Babylon. Its sides were from 375 to 643 feet long, and the edifice still rises to a height of 153 feet.

The next structures in point of antiquity are the pyramids of Egypt. These are the oldest and most mysterious of man's works still existing. But they are not really so tall, considered in the light of present day achievements. The greatest, known as the Great Pyramid of Cheops or Khufu, was originally 481 feet 4 inches high and 755 feet square at the base. The second—that of Chephren or Khafra—was 472 feet high and 706 feet wide. The third—that of Mycerinus or Menkaura—was never completed, but it stood, nevertheless, 215 feet high and 346 feet square at the base. In all nearly seventy of these pyra-

Johnson's Pharmacy reports customers greatly pleased with the QUICK action of simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-I-ka. It is so powerful that it is used successfully in appendicitis. Adler-I-ka never gripes and the INSTANT action is surprising.—Advt.

mids have been located, and, inasmuch as they all appear to have been royal sepulchers, it is the belief that the dynasties of the builders covered a period of at least a thousand years. The area of the Great Pyramid is more than thirteen acres—above twice as great as that of St. Peter's at Rome. The passages leading to the chambers containing the royal mummies defied detection for thousands of years, only to be torn open at last and their contents ruthlessly made away with.

Of modern edifices the tallest by far is the great Eiffel tower of Paris, whose steel webbed structure pierces the blue to a height of 984 feet. Then comes the Woolworth building in New York, the loftiest office building in the world, its fifty-five stories rising 750 feet into the air. The height of others is: Metropolitan Life building, New York, fifty stories, 700 feet 3 inches; Singer building, New York, forty-one stories, 612 feet 1 inch; Washington monument, Washington, 555 feet; Cologne cathedral spire, Cologne, Germany, 517 feet; Rouen cathedral spire, Rouen, France, 492 feet; cupola of St. Peter's, Rome, 469 feet; St. Paul's, London, 364 feet.

The loftiest bellisks ever constructed are those mentioned by Diodorus Siculus, which rose 158 feet and were eleven feet thick at the base and seven feet thick at the top. One of the world's largest domes is that of the Roman Pantheon, 142 feet in diameter and 143 feet high.

The ancient peoples were great for their methods of embalming, for their art, their literature, their general culture. But when it comes to building skyscrapers they will have to give way to the builders of the Eiffel tower and the Woolworth building, who have pierced the clouds without their language being confounded in the slightest.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Death by the Bowstring.

The Man Who is Now
Before the People
For Congress

HON. C. B. BUCKMAN

Candidate for Republican Nomination for CongressLittle Falls Daily Transcript, Nov.
6, 1915.

The forty-two years since Mr. Buckman located in the vicinity of Little Falls have been employed in activities and a varied service which render him one of the foremost citizens of Minnesota. He has always been a leader in public affairs, as he has been successful in business and besides the various local offices which he has at times filled he has represented his district in congress, served a number of years in the state legislature, both in the house and in the senate, and for the past six years has been deputy United States marshal.

Clarence Bennett Buckman was born in Doylestown, Pennsylvania, April 1, 1851, a son of William and Jennie (Bennett) Buckman, substantial farming people of Pennsylvania. The Buckman family came to America early in the seventeenth century, and the original ancestor made the voyage on the sailing ship Welcome.

When Clarence B. Buckman came to Little Falls in 1872 he took up a homestead in Morrison county, proved up on his claim and his enterprise as a farmer was the foundation of his commercial success. He continued to buy land until at one time he owned 1,400 acres, all under cultivation. Between 1873 and 1906 practically all his time was devoted to the management of his agricultural interests. During that time he established on his farm the town of Buckman, a prosperous little village, now of about 500 population. Though the settlers in this section of Morrison county are mostly Germans and their political affiliation is largely that of the Democratic faith yet Mr. Buckman has always received almost their solid support in seeking any public office.

In 1873 Mr. Buckman held his first local office, that of justice of the peace. In 1881 he was sent to the state legislature, serving two years in the lower house, and in 1883 became state senator, and was in that body for eight successive years, and was after elected for another four-year term. Mr. Buckman represented his district in the fifty-eighth and fifty-ninth congress and while in Washington served as a member of several important committees.

Since 1889 he has lived in the city of Little Falls. For twenty years he was engaged in the lumber business and built a sawmill at Sauk Rapids. At Little Falls he gave the city Hotel Buckman, a modern house of entertainment, containing fifty-five rooms.

He was also one of the principals in the Little Falls Packing company. He is one of the prominent men in this section of Minnesota, and has done much in the way of public service, and his appointment to the office of deputy United States marshal was one based upon his singular fitness for public position.

conduct he has that unusual faculty so necessary to a man in public life—that of making friends even among those who are opposed to him politically. Possessed of the greatest optimism he is never discouraged by defeat or adversity but has the supreme faculty of rebounding after every blow. As a former member of congress no request made of him by his constituents was ever too small or humble to receive his prompt and careful attention; and by his accomplishments throughout the Sixth district he was known as a good working congressman. This course, Mr. Buckman states, will again be pursued by him if the people choose to return him to that body.

Mr. Buckman is not an alarmist. He does not believe the country is fast going to the demerit bow-wows. He throws no scares into the people in coming before them soliciting their support. He believes in the future of the great state of Minnesota and is most loyal to it. He has never visited any foreign country and is not ashamed of the fact. The United States is a good enough and a big enough country for him. Mr. Buckman's activities in the many lines of business in which he has been engaged throughout his many years' association with life here in this state have made his name familiar to most people who have resided in Minnesota for any appreciable length of time.

SMOKELESS POWDER.

And One Reason Why Our Big Guns
Are Made So Long.

Only 43 per cent of ordinary gunpowder is converted into gas when it explodes. The remaining 57 per cent is unconsumed residue, which we see in the form of smoke. With smokeless powder it is different. On ignition it is converted wholly into gas. A much greater volume of gas is produced, and the explosive effect is proportionately increased.

When the war with Spain broke out in 1898 the United States government did not have any smokeless powder. The Spaniards, on the other hand, had plenty of it and used it on both land and sea. Consequently the American besiegers at Santiago were unable to see the Spanish soldiers firing at them, whereas the enemy could see by the puffs of smoke just where to shoot. When Admiral Cervera's ships came out of the harbor and tried to escape, the vessels of the American squadron found it hard in the fight that followed to fire accurately because their view of the foe was obscured by the clouds of smoke from their own guns.

There are many kinds of smokeless gunpowder. One of the best known is the English cordite, which, when forced through holes in a perforated metal plate while in a plastic condition, takes the form of thick strings that look like brown rubber. The strings are cut up into short cylindrical pieces. You can safely hold a string of cordite in your hand and light one end of it; it will burn slowly with a bright flame.

A characteristic of smokeless powders is that they burn very slowly; on that account modern guns are very long, in order that all the powder of a charge may have time to be transformed into gas before the projectile driven by it leaves the muzzle of the weapon. The smokeless powder used by our army and navy is made by soaking nitro cotton in a mixture of ether and alcohol. It is thus converted into a plastic substance that may be molded or cut into any shape required. For small arms it is manufactured in a form resembling spaghetti—long strings that are chopped into little pieces and packed into the cartridges. For big guns it is made in long rods, which, after being perforated from end to end with a number of holes to insure quicker ignition, are cut into short lengths. That kind of powder, which might be called an explosive celluloid, is of a horny consistency. As in the case of other smokeless powders, the slowness with which it burns is owing mainly to its density.

The very cloth of the bags used to contain charges of gunpowder for the big guns has itself been made of smokeless powder—that is, woven of threads of exactly the same substance. That is an invention of the Germans. The bag thus becomes part of the explosive charge and when the gun is fired is wholly consumed.—Professor Charles S. Munroe in Youth's Companion.

LEAVES LONDON
FOR NEAR EASTLord Kitchener Will Observe
Military Operations.

OFFICIAL REPORT IS ISSUED

Positive Denial Is Made That the British Minister of War Has Resigned or That His Trip Indicates Any Such Step Is Under Consideration.

London, Nov. 8.—Field Marshal Earl Kitchener, British secretary of state for war and the leading military figure in Great Britain, is on his way to the scene of the fighting in the near East, where it is expected he will delve deeply into conditions and adopt measures by which it is hoped in the entente capitals the situation may be worked out of the tangle in which it appears to be involved at present. The following official statement was made:

"Earl Kitchener, at the request of his colleagues, has left England for a short visit to the eastern theater of war."

A later statement was issued which put an end to rumors that Earl Kitchener had resigned. It said:

"The statement that Lord Kitchener has resigned his post as secretary of state for war has already been authoritatively denied. It is equally untrue to suggest that Earl Kitchener has tendered his resignation, or that his visit to the king had any relation to any such subject, or that his visit to the eastern theater of war in any way betokens that such resignation is contemplated."

"On the contrary, this visit is undertaken by him in discharge of his duties as secretary of state for war, which duties he has no intention of abandoning."

It is not too much to say that these brief announcements have left Great Britain breathless. For twenty years Kitchener has been England's "savior" fighting man.

It was Kitchener who was sent to smash the Mahdi and who battered his way through in the Khartoum expedition and it was Kitchener who by sheer force of killing turned the tide in the Boer war.

London newspaper opinion seems to run quite generally to the belief that Earl Kitchener's chief activities from now on will be in the field, or at least close to the scene.

BIG BATTLES IN PROGRESS

Austro-German Forces Gain More
Ground in Serbia.

London, Nov. 8.—In Northern and Eastern Serbia and on the Montenegrin frontier big battles are in progress. The Austro-Germans claim to be advancing all along the line and to have reached the Morava river, which has been crossed at some points. In their advance they are picking up prisoners, guns and war material.

In the south the French are reported to be over the Bulgarian frontier, where they have taken several villages.

It would appear, therefore, that the central powers, who have obtained their initial objective, the opening of the road to Sofia and Constantinople, have a lot of fighting ahead of them if Serbia is to be overwhelmed.

GREECE REMAINS NEUTRAL

New Cabinet Will Pursue Former Government's Policy.

London, Nov. 8.—The political crisis in Greece, which has clouded the Balkans, has been overcome. M. Skoulafis, having accepted and performed the task of organizing a cabinet, which, being composed of all the members of the Zaimis government with the exception of the former premier himself, will carry on the former government's policy of maintaining neutrality.

The new cabinet is at the mercy of the Venizelos majority in the chamber, but the impression is that no attempt will be made to turn it out, thus avoiding dissolution of parliament and a consequent election, the result of which could not be predicted while the army remains mobilized.

THREE BELGIANS EXECUTED

Were Convicted of Watching Military Transports of Germans.

Amsterdam, Nov. 8.—A dispatch from Brussels, by way of Berlin, says: "A field of courtmartial has sentenced to death three Belgians and condemned another to twelve years' imprisonment. Since February, 1915, the condemned had noted all military transports proceeding to and returning from the front along two railway lines, which information they communicated to the allies. The sentences were confirmed and executed."

There is no teacher like necessity. It has been the making of man. It wakes up his dormant faculties and stimulates to action his latent talents.

OLD LIBERTY BELL.

It Is Not Only Cracked, but Is Suffering
From Metal Sickness.

"The Liberty bell is suffering from the disease of metals," says the Iron Age. This is due to several causes. The famous bell was badly cast in the first instance and was recast three by amateurs, who changed the composition of the metal with each recasting. The first crack appeared when the bell was tolling on the occasion of the funeral of Chief Justice John Marshall. In 1909 it was discovered that the crack had extended to double its original length.

The bell has been transported to a distance on six occasions and has been clipped by many vandal souvenir hunters. Its trips did it no good, as more or less rough handling was scarcely avoidable.

When the new crack appeared Alexander E. Outerbridge, Jr., an expert metallurgist, was called in to examine it. When it was planned to ship it to San Francisco for the Panama exhibition Mr. Outerbridge was again summoned, and on his report it was determined to keep it henceforth in Independence Hall. In his latest report Mr. Outerbridge says:

"It is no hyperbolic figure of speech to say that the venerable Liberty bell is affected with a serious disease. Metallurgists have adopted into technical phraseology the term 'disease of metals' and recognize several such maladies. I myself have no hesitation in saying that the bell has a distemper, which should insure its most careful preservation from all shocks such as it would be subject to in a long journey."

The Iron Age says that with each of the remeltings to which the bell was subjected it lost largely in tensile strength, resilience, etc. Mr. Outerbridge's experiments show that pure copper loses 50 per cent of its tensile strength by three remeltings. The Liberty bell was recast three times, and perhaps even at that time it had already been attacked by the disease that has been eating into its copper and tin vitals ever since.

LABOR AND RECREATION.

All Work and No Play Produces the Fatigue That Poisons.

Men and women come in the morning to their tasks with a spring of fresh energy within them. Little by little during the hours of labor they empty that spring. When it is dry they must draw from forces which should be untouched. By some strange chemistry which no one understands too well these intrusions on the physical forces which should be inviolate produce in the human system a true toxic condition—fatigue poison, auto poison the scientists call it.

If this fatigue poison passes a point where the period of rest following is not equal to the task of throwing it off and filling afresh the spring of energy, the man goes back to his toll a little unit; the longer he goes on the more unfit he becomes. Slowly the poison invades his system. The repairing forces—food, relaxation, pleasures and sleep—become less and less equal to the task. The man becomes more and more open to the attack of disease; less and less able to do his work; unfit to improve upon it; unable to grow. He is an unsafe man, too, one not to be trusted among machines in dangerous places. The man has been poisoned into unfitness by the slow accumulation of fatigue poison which he could not throw off.

It was not work which did this. It was too much work. He needed the work to keep him fit. Without it or its equivalent, a regular physical exercise, his spring of energy would have as surely deteriorated as it did from overwork. The spring of energy standing idle would have soured within him.—Ida M. Tarbell in American Magazine.

A Prophecy That Came True.

When Sir Edward Elgar, the noted composer, was quite a small boy he made a curious prophecy about himself. On making his first appearance at school the master asked him his name.

"Edward Elgar," he replied.

"The master thought that the boy spoke too bravely."

"Add the word 'sir'!" he commanded.

"Sir Edward Elgar!" said the future knight gravely.—London Globe.

Highest Speed Ever Attained.

The highest speed ever attained by man on the face of the earth is one mile in 25.2 seconds, equivalent to 142.85 miles an hour, according to the Railway Age Gazette. It was in an automobile run by Teddy Tetzlaff on the level salt beds at Salduro, Utah, 112 miles west of Salt Lake City. The best speed ever made on rails was with an electric car between Berlin and Zossen—130.5 miles an hour.

CANNOT STOP THE
PORK BARREL BILLSCampaign Now Being Conducted
Is Useless.

MUCKRAKERS ALWAYS BLIND

Cannot Conceive That People in General Are Pretty Much Alike and Want Large Appropriations—Congressmen Strive to Have Federal Money Pour Into Their Districts.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The magazine campaign against the "pork barrel" has been renewed. The stories about the waste in many army posts and many navy yards has been revamped and told as if it was a new discovery.

In almost the same words as told four or five years ago we read about the numerous useless military posts and how they were constructed because they were "pork" for certain senators and representatives. Almost the same thing is told about the navy yards, many of which have been maintained and absorbed large sums because they benefited individual congressmen and senators.

And what good does it do? These publications have about as much effect upon the appropriations and retard extravagance about as much as a fly on the wheel interferes with a great piece of machinery.

The Muckraker's Blindness.

The muckraker is blind; he is able to see only one side of any proposition. He cannot conceive that people are pretty much all alike. He thinks because he points out what he thinks is a wrong that it should be righted immediately.

Several years ago one of these writers who berated congressmen finally came to the conclusion and made the assertion that congress was as good as the people who elected the representatives. He had made the wonderful discovery that water would not rise higher than its source and proclaimed it.

The People Want the Money.

The "pork barrel" will last as long as there is human nature in regard to money. People want federal money expended in their states, districts and cities. Until the magazine writers can change this phase of human nature they had better not waste space or the time of the people in reading about how this or that man has been able to secure millions of dollars for his community.

The late Congressman Brownlow made his campaigns on the federal money he procured for his Tennessee district. He pointed out that when he first went to congress the district was not receiving a dollar from the government, but by hard work he had turned a stream of $52,000 annually into it from the federal treasury. Issuing a circular to that effect, he did not have to make any other kind of a campaign.

Made a Fight on Martin.

Several years ago an opponent of Senator Martin of Virginia made a fight on him because he had voted for a large appropriation for the union station in Washington. As many people in Virginia had seen the magnificent station which beautified the capital, they said Martin had done well, and his majority was increased. Senator Martin has always since maintained that the people do not object to the expenditure of money as long as it is wisely used and good results obtained.

Might Play Politics.

The Republicans might play politics and help instead of hinder the Democrats in passing a bill giving the Philippines independence. Down deep in the hearts of most people the belief is general that the Philippines are going to be the cause of our next war. To get rid of them is not going to be very popular, but it may save the Republic a lot of trouble.

Make Tumulty the "Goat."

That job of secretary to the president has its advantages, but no man who holds it can help becoming the "goat" for his chief. Joe Tumulty does not have to stand for many mistakes which Wilson makes, but he does have to be the buffer who "stands off" the many persons who want to see the president.

Just now he is obliged to listen to a great deal of advice from those who know just how the administration should be conducted and what the president ought to do. Much of it comes from men whom Tumulty knows should not be offended by curt treatment. In the days of Taft the secretaries would simply ignore such people, but that is not the policy at present.

"We'll Fix It Up All Right."

John Garner of Texas thinks that the Democratic house will be able to get along under Claude Kitchin, the new leader. "We'll fix it up all right," he said when reference was made to the disagreements announced as existing between Kitchin and the administration. The administration differed with the leaders over the canal tolls in the last congress and won. It can differ with the leaders in the coming congress and win—when aided by the Republicans, as in the canal fight.

Where it is possible the administration will put things through by caucus rule; at other times with the aid of Republican votes.

SIGNALS FROM AIR CRAFT.

Spot Clouds, Mirror Flashes and Torch
Bombs Are Used.

To an army commander the value of a military aeroplane is its power to locate hostile artillery and direct gunfire rather than its bomb dropping possibilities. Thus it is very necessary that a pilot several thousand feet in the air should be able to communicate with the headquarters staff on earth so that he may convey the necessary information for the guidance of gunners hurling shells at targets miles ahead which they cannot see.

A very ingenious method of signaling from an aeroplane is by means of spot clouds. An apparatus filled with black rests near the hand of the aviator, and when he presses a lever some of this soot passes down a pipe and is discharged in a black cloud. The pipe is so delicately arranged that the clouds may be small or large. The operator can spell out the Morse telegraphic code in little clouds, and they can be read from the earth when the aviator is 4,900 feet high.

Another clever means of signaling from air craft is that carried out by means of lamps and mirrors. A lamp which has a flash of 10,000 candle power sends piercing rays of light through a lens fitted with powerful magnifying glasses. When a message is sent the operator directs his flasher in the required direction, presses a button, and a brilliant light flashes out, long or short, according to the pressure. The officers on earth receive the message and may send a reply in the same way, being provided with similar mirrors and lamps. The rays of light sent out are almost as bright as sunlight, so that they can be seen with the naked eye for a distance of four miles in the daytime and at night for a distance of eight miles.

When military aviators wish to drop a written communication to the earth without descending they utilize an ingenious bomb. This contains the document, and the projectile is weighted so that it falls sharp and first. As the end strikes the ground a trigger is released, which sets fire to a torch on top, and thus the location of the bomb is indicated day or night.—Pearson's Weekly.

Answered Too Well.

Judge Parry in a recent article on "Rufus Choate, Advocate," says on occasion Choate would meet with his Sam Weller. Defending a prisoner for theft of money from a ship, a witness was called who had turned state's evidence and whose testimony went to prove that Choate's client had instigated the theft.

"Well," asked Choate, "what did he say? Tell us how and what he spoke to you."

"Why," said the witness, "he told us there was a man in Boston named Choate and he'd get us off if they caught us with the money in our boots."

Pursuing an Elephant.

Any one who has once followed a traveling elephant will not show any undue haste to repeat the amusement, said a man who has hunted big game in Africa. The elephants sail along at an average pace of six miles an hour, regardless of the country, and stop for a bath or a short siesta perhaps once every three days. Anything more exasperating than following very fresh spoor at a dog trot hour after hour in a blazing sun, only to find at a late hour in the afternoon that one was forty miles from camp, with no food or water anywhere in sight and that the elephant had increased his lead from one mile to ten, it would be difficult to imagine.—Exchange.

BLAIR VS GUTH CASE ON TRIAL

Suit Charging Alienation of Wife's Affections, Damages to Blair in Sum of $25,000

GUTH ON STAND IN MORNING

Plaintiff Gets Verdict in American Laundry Machinery Co. vs George H. Gardner

The case of Charles L. Blair vs William A. Guth is on trial in district court this morning. In his address to the jury Attorney C. A. Russell stated it was an action for alienation of a wife's affections, the complaint charging the seduction and enticing away of Mrs. Blair from her home by Mr. Guth. Attorneys for Mr. Blair are Crowell and Russell and Will. A. Blanchard. Appearing for Mr. Guth is Attorney D. J. Severance of Crosby.

In his address to the jury Attorney Severance said it was an action for criminal conversation.

The complaint, said Mr. Russell, stated that Blair and Lola Westcott Blair were married and prior to January 1, 1912 had two children under the age of twelve. That Guth, it is alleged, willfully alienated the affections of Mrs. Blair and induced her to leave her husband at Crosby and remove to Duluth and that she was in Guth's company, resided with him as his wife and that Guth seduced her. Blair was deprived of his wife's society and sued for $25,000 damages. The men had been friends for a number of years and the families lived near each other.

Shortly after their going to Duluth, said Mr. Russell in his address, Mrs. Guth swore out a warrant August 14, 1913 arresting Guth and Mrs. Blair. The two had returned to Crosby where the deputy sheriff from Duluth served the warrant on Mrs. Blair while she and relatives were sitting at the dinner table.

Blair asked his wife about the matter and she said there was nothing to it. Blair, said Mr. Russell, went down town and met Guth and the latter said both were innocent. Before Blair got back to his home his wife had taken carbolic acid and was dead.

Guth was called to the stand by the plaintiff this morning and gave in effect a general denial to all questions asked him. He said he knew Mrs. Lola Westcott Blair in August, 1911. He had known Blair for several years. He had been acquainted a number of years when they lived in Duluth. Guth admitted being at the home of Mrs. Blair's sister, Mrs. Blanche Erskine, of Champlin, where he met Mrs. Blair. He denied that Mrs. Erskine had told him to leave the house, that he had held a revolver at the head of Mrs. Blair and taken her by the throat, saying: "You'll do as I want you to, or I'll finish you right here." He denied having a revolver.

Guth denied going to Minneapolis later with Mrs. Blair and registering under an assumed name. Guth said he was not acquainted at the Radison hotel and had never stopped there under any name. He himself had stopped at different places. He denied they had gone to St. Paul or Minneapolis or to any hotel.

Attorney Severance objected to a question, stating that it bore an assumption that Guth had done something and Mr. Russell withdrew his question and asked it in different form.

Mr. Guth admitted that he was also known as "Angie." A letter dated January 17, 1913 was introduced in evidence and Mr. Guth admitted he wrote it and that the signature was his own. It was addressed to Mrs. Blair, Champlin, Minn.

Saturday the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff in the case of the American Laundry Machinery Co. vs George H. Gardner, assessing its damages at $144.96, including interest. A stay of 30 days was ordered.

WINS FROM AKELEY

Brainerd High School Defeats Visiting Team 10 to 0 on Koering Grounds Saturday

Brainerd high school closed a successful season with a hard fought victory over the Akeley team on Saturday. The score of 10 to 0 the week previous indicated that the game of last Saturday would be a fight from start to finish and the contest fulfilled every expectation of a large crowd who attended it. The score of 10 to 0 made through a touchdown by Falconer and drop-kick by Reis indicates the stubbornness of the Akeley defence.

Several other times Brainerd carried the ball within a short distance of Akeley's goal only to lose it when the Akeley defence strengthened. Both teams played well and it was an evenly matched game throughout with Brainerd showing the best form in the pinches.

During the first half Akeley was unable to prevent several long gains by means of the forward pass. Time after time Falconer received the ball by this means and carried it for long distances and early in the second quarter, a long pass to this same player resulted in the touchdown. From then on until the end of the game the teams played back and forth across the field without either having much advantage.

A few minutes before the close Brainerd secured the ball and on a long gain carried it within 25 yards of Akeley's goal, where from the 30 yard line Reis drop-kicked a pretty goal squarely between the posts.

This game marks the close of the season for the local boys and much credit is due them for the work they have accomplished since the beginning of the season. With only two men who had played regularly on the teams before, with green men, some of whom had never been in a contest of any kind, they lost to Little Falls by a rather one sided score. Without doubt the Brainerd boys have improved 200 per cent since that game. Decisive wins over Aitkin in two games, fighting Akeley to a standstill on their own home grounds with a clean-up victory over them on our home grounds, the boys have demonstrated what persistent practice can do in the development of a team. Many men have been developed who will form the basis for strong teams in future years.

Better playing than that of Falconer in Saturday's game is rarely seen among high school players. His clean-cut receiving of forward passes was without doubt the decisive factor in Brainerd's offence. It is hardly just to any member of the team to say that one starred more than another, but the playing of Falconer, Reis and Warner were the outstanding features of the game. Warner's defensive work against Akeley's 200 pound center was a treat to any lover of football and to anyone who understands the value of a strong line player. Warner was through the line, under the big center, over him and around him time after time. And at least a dozen times during the game tackled the Akeley runner for a loss. The high school management wishes to thank the patrons of the game for their attendance on Saturday. The expenses of the game with Akeley were large and while the receipts did not quite cover these expenses, the deficit will be small, much smaller than they had expected. The team was in hope that they would play a return game at Brainerd with Little Falls, but they have twice canceled dates which had been arranged and Brainerd has given up all hopes of securing a return contest.

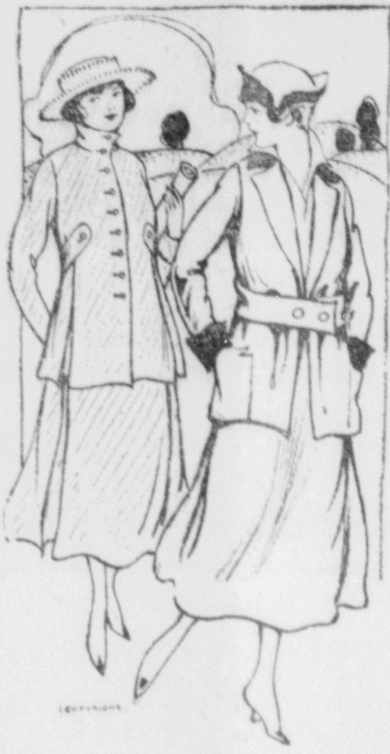

Interest in athletics in the high school has been considerably aroused by the victories of the football team, and the boys are already beginning to turn their attention to basket-ball. A number of the boys who do not play football have been practicing in the gymnasium and a class schedule is being arranged. The banner that was won by the freshmen of last year will be the stake for which all the classes expect to compete. The interclass tournament gives promise of being more hotly contested than it has been in previous years. It is not likely that any interschool contests will be arranged before January. In the meantime Brainerd people are asked to support the high school boys in their athletics for they have been playing clean, hard fought and manly contests.

Today the laugh convulsing comedian is again brought to the Best in that wonderful comedy "The Property Man." This picture is a tonic for the busy man and the tired working man who cares for good comedy.

That wonderful educating and interesting feature the Paramount Travelogue is sure worth coming to see. In these travelogues one can see the world a little at a time so that it does not bore. This is a rare opportunity as anyone can now travel around the world for the admission price at the Best. Football is surely exciting when the Northwest Weekly shows today the most exciting game of the season, Minnesota vs Illinois. The score was 6 to 6, that's enough to warrant the picture worth seeing. Other interesting doings of the North west are also shown in the Weekly. Tomorrow is your only chance to see Viola Allen in "The White Sister."

ATTRACTIONS FOR AUTOISTS

MINNESOTA FAVORED WITH RAREST BEAUTIES OF NATURE.

Millions to Be Spent for Good Roads Will Mean the Continued Betterment of the Highways.

By John H. Hohmann, President of the Minnesota Automobile Association.

Minnesota has become one of the foremost states of the Union on account of the development of its tremendous natural resources, worked out largely through the medium of good roads. These are among the principal veins and arteries of commerce. As a good, vigorous circulation of the blood is essential to the health and normal growth and development of the human body, so must the great commercial blood vessels be properly taken care of, and that duty has been and is being performed in Minnesota. Our automobiles, our cars, our trucks, perform an absolutely essential function in the movement of persons and property from place to place. We have given them a chance to do this work right. Let them do their proper part, and a mighty part it will be, in giving Minnesota further growth and development into a commonwealth greater and richer by far than its early founders dared to dream, a leader among the commonwealths that comprise this vast republic.

Marvelous Beauty Spots. What state has been favored by nature with a more lavish hand than Minnesota? Think of her marvelous agricultural and mineral wealth. Mankind has scarcely begun to draw upon it. This state can and will give beautiful and happy homes to millions of families. It needs only to have its resources developed to be rendered capable of sustaining many times its present population.

Yet, great as are the commercial resources of Minnesota, the state has been no less favored in the bestowal of some of the rarest beauties of nature, picturesque spots and a climate that is unexcelled. This is a state of lakes. There are ten thousand of them. Fishing and hunting reserves still abound. There are good roads to enable our citizens to take proper advantage of the pleasures, as well as the wealth, which Minnesota offers in such profusion. Travel in any direction in this state and your eyes will feast upon the marvelous beauty spots which nature has designed for the edification of mankind. These gifts can easily be reached by the autoists.

Millions For Good Roads. Minnesota will have approximately one hundred million dollars to spend for good roads during the next ten years. If this vast sum, which is derived from the one-mill state aid tax and the county and township tax levies, is spent judiciously, it will mean the continued betterment of the highways.

The campaign for good roads has been the means of educating the great mass of people up to a realization of what these improved channels of trade mean as wealth producers. Besides, they are a standing invitation to sight-seers and pleasure seekers from a wide expanse of territory to visit Minnesota and take advantage of her multiplicity of lakes and summer and health resorts.

Minnesota, The State For Autoists. The automobile is the modern pleasure car. It was conceived by a genius and born of a necessity to supply the demand of the rapidly advancing times. The auto is no longer a fad, but a fixture in the social and commercial life. It has been the advance agent of the better highway movement and has necessitated the building up and maintenance of the lake resorts, where the mind and body can seek that rest and contentment which often becomes necessary in this world of strenuous endeavor. Minnesota is the state for the autoist. Here he can find all that he seeketh. We have one of the best road laws in the United States, the so-called Dunn law. Under its wise provisions the roads of a permanent character are being constructed. They are the delight of the autoist.

"See Minnesota First." Already a chain of inter-county state roads has been laid out, extending 1,600 miles. The greater part of this chain of roads has been completed.

pleted. We have the Black and Yellow trail from Chicago through Wisconsin to the Black Hills; the Yellowstone trail, starting from Minneapolis and St. Paul, and extending through the west central part of the state; the old Dodd road, an excellent graded and graveled highway, running from St. Paul south through Northfield, Owatonna and Albert Lea; the old Government trail from the Twin Cities, following the Minnesota river to Mankato, and the Twin City to Duluth road, connecting the three large centers of population in the state, with numerous lakes, beautiful scenery and the most enjoyable camping ground to be found anywhere. Good roads are found in Northern Minnesota. These lead to lakes and rivers where fish are found in abundance and in the winter months these highways are traversed by the hunters in search of larger game, which can be found there in large number.

Good roads and the automobile have given the people an opportunity to "See America first." It also can be said that excellent highways and the automobile have given the people an opportunity to "See Minnesota first."

A STATE WITH A SURPLUS

Minnesota's Permanent Trust Funds Are Greatest of Any State in the Union.

By Walter J. Smith, State Treasurer.

The condition of the state finances at the close of the fiscal year July 31, 1915, showed that Minnesota was in better condition than ever before in its history. The last dollar has been paid during the past year on the new Capitol, and the state of Minnesota does not owe any bonded debt. The cash balance in the treasury at the above named date was $3,332,096.34.

Our permanent trust funds of the state are the greatest of any state in the Union and nearly as much as all the states put together, lying east of the Mississippi river.

Trust Funds Are Increasing. The state treasurer holds in trust securities belonging to and to the credit of the following trust funds: Permanent school fund, $19,380,539; Permanent university fund, $1,426,522; Swamp land fund, $2,372,223; Internal improvement land fund, $160,000.

Total, $23,339,284. Most of the securities bear interest at the rate of 4 per cent per annum. Through the sale of state lands, timber, receipts from royalties on iron ore, etc., these trust funds are increasing at the rate of one million dollars per year.

WHITLOCK FOR SECOND PLACE

Being Groomed for Running Mate With President Wilson.

Washington, Nov. 8.—Politicians here connected the return of Brand Whitlock from Belgium with gossip that he is to be groomed for second place on the next national Democratic ticket.

Leading Ohio Democrats have been urging Mr. Whitlock for the vice presidential nomination for some weeks and the movement is attracting the support of many progressive Democratic leaders throughout the country.

Administration leaders have not sought to check the boom for Mr. Whitlock and none has demonstrated a keen desire for the renomination of Vice President Marshall.

Saved the Scene.

Once in the third climax of a play, the elder Sothern's pistol missed fire in his hand. At that critical moment, however, the great actor's presence of mind did not desert him.

"Bang!" he shouted, at the top of his lungs. And the villain immediately fell dead.

GROWTH OF DAIRY INDUSTRY

MINNESOTA TAKES FIRST PRIZE IN NATIONAL CONTESTS.

State Has 950 Establishments That Produce Butter and Cheese, Supplied by 1,215,000 Cows.

By J. J. Farrell, Dairy and Food Commissioner.

Minnesota has 950 establishments that produce butter and cheese approximately 700 of which are upon a cooperative basis. These factories are supplied in part by 1,215,000 cows producing $72,125,000 worth of milk annually and $8,750,000 worth of calves. The by-products of the dairy are, at a conservative figure, worth $20,000,000, making a grand total of more than $100,000,000.

The rapid growth of the dairy and creamery industry in Minnesota is without a parallel in the history of the country. Quality, as well as quantity is evidenced by the fact that for ten consecutive years Minnesota has taken first prize in all national contests. At the last National Convention, held in Mason City, Iowa, in 1915, in competition with twenty-three states Minnesota won first and second place, as well as the grand sweepstakes. No other state can show such a record.

CONTROLS RATE AND SERVICE

Railroad and Warehouse Commission Prevents Discriminations by Railways and Telephone Companies.

By Charles E. Elmquist, Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner.

One of the important branches of our state government is the Railroad and Warehouse Commission. This department has been in existence since 1872, and consists of three members who are elected for a term of six years. Originally its jurisdiction was confined to the supervision of common carriers, but succeeding legislatures have increased its duties. At the present time its activities extend to the control over the rates and service of railroad and express companies, telephone companies and storage warehouses. Broadly speaking, no corporation can change a rate, rule or regulation without the consent of the Commission, and the Commission can after investigation make and require the publication of reasonable rates.

Prescribes Lower Rates.

The Commission prescribed class and commodity rates in 1906 representing an average decrease of 16% per cent in the former and 10 per cent in the latter. These were litigated and sustained in the Minnesota Rate Cases, as a result of which the people enjoy lower rates and the shippers have been paid refunds amounting to about $2,750,000.00 up to the present time.

In 1913 the Commission made and published distance tariff freight rates for all classes and commodities moving within the state and they are now being used by all of the railroads except the Chicago Great Western and the Minneapolis & St. Louis.

Regulates Telephone Service.

Many questions arise affecting stations, agents, spur tracks and the service given by freight and passenger trains. The control over telephone companies was effective on July 1st and over storage warehouses on October 1st. The law is very broad and gives the Commission ample power to regulate service, prevent discriminations and enforce reasonable charges. Some of the large telephone companies raised their toll rates before the law went into effect, and this placed the burden upon the Commission of determining a reasonable rate after an investigation and hearing. In respect to telephone and storage companies the work of the Commission is necessarily in a formative state, but there is no question but what the regulation will be beneficial to the public and corporations.

Controls Weights and Measures.

All scales, weights and measures used commercially in the state, including track scales and the scales upon which grain is weighed, are under the control of the Commission. Skilled men travel over the state testing platform and smaller scales and weighing devices; railroad track scales are examined by experts who travel with 100,000 pound test cars and sufficient heavy weights. Grain scales in the terminals are constantly supervised to insure their accuracy. The Commission through its grain inspection department grades and weighs all grain that enters or leaves the terminals and also gives the same service at many mills and elevators at interior points. The employees are obliged to get fair, average samples of grain from the car and the inspectors pass judgment upon the sample without knowing the ownership thereof. The grain is weighed by men who are under a $5,000.00 bond to the state and who are under close supervision. Information concerning the loss of grain in transit is furnished shippers. This service is of utmost importance to the producers and dealers because it insures fair and impartial grades and weights. Practically the same service is given to hay and straw which reaches the terminals. All commission merchants who deal in grain and agricultural products are licensed by the state and the Railroad and Warehouse Commission is permitted by law to investigate any complaints that may be filed by interested parties and to make such decision as justice and equity require.

NO ONE NEEDS TO MISS EDUCATION

STATE'S CHIEF CONCERN FOR FUTURE CITIZENS IS OPPORTUNITY FOR LEARNING.

SCHOOLS WITHIN EASY REACH

Minnesota Requires Common Public Institutions to be Maintained Within Access of Every Child Within School Age.

By C. G. Schultz, State Superintendent of Education.

Minnesota's chief concern for its future citizens is the fullest opportunity for education. No person in this state, whether young or old, needs to miss the chance of receiving the elements of an education. The state requires common public schools to be maintained within access of every child within school age. There are 10 Minnesota 7,500 rural schools, 250 elementary graded schools, and 225 state high schools. The state maintains five normal schools for training teachers, the state university, the colleges in education and in agriculture, besides other professional schools. There are special schools for deaf and for blind and a state school for homeless children.

Consolidation of Rural Schools.

The minimum school year is six months. Most schools are in session between seven and eight months. High and graded schools have nine months of school each year. Every child in the state between 8 and 16 years of age is required to attend public or private school regularly.

The state makes special grants to the several classes of public schools, in order to maintain high standards in buildings and in teaching. Special grants are made to high and graded schools for teaching agriculture and other industrial subjects. Consolidation of rural schools is encouraged by special annual grants of $500 to each school, of $2,000 for paying the cost of transportation, and $2,000 for the erection of a modern building in a consolidated district.

Best Facilities for Education.

Beside the common public schools and the state's educational institutions, there are six private colleges maintaining a high rank of scholarship, equivalent to the standards in the state university. Different religious denominations maintain private academies and special schools. There are schools of art, of music, and of design.

The newer settled sections of the state have kept pace with the older communities in their provisions for public schools. Northern Minnesota vies with the southern section in progressiveness in all that pertains to the best facilities for public education.

Rev. C. M. Knighton, Havana, Fla., writes: "For three months I suffered intense pain in the kidneys and back which at times laid me up entirely. I used one and a half bottle of Foley Kidney Pills and all the pain disappeared. I felt as if 20 years had been added to my life." Relieves rheumatism, backache, sore muscles, stiff joints. H. P. LITTLE GIRLS ROB ELEVEN Lure Newark Housewives From Home With False Messages.

Newark, N. J., Nov. 8.—The lure of the movies and a desire to wear fine clothing induced three little girls to commit eleven robberies in the last six weeks, according to confessions which the police say they obtained from Lena Giacchi, thirteen years old, and Mary and Fannie Scornie, eleven and nine years old, respectively.
